

Creating planar robot link models with and without cracks

Specifying boundary conditions and loads for vibration simulation

Simulating the robot link models to get their vibration responses

Converting the responses to 2D images using GASF

Applying the 2D images to CNN classification and evaluation